Poetry.

Kindle and Smile.

If the world seems cold to you,
Kindle fires to warm it!
Let their comfort hide from view
Winters that deform it,
Hearts as frozen as your own
To that radiance gather;
You will soon forget to moan
"Ah! the cheerless weather."

If the world's a wilderness,
Go, build houses in it!
Will it help your loneliness
On the winds to din it!
Raise a hut, however slight,
Weeds and brambles smother,
And to roof and meal invite
Some forlorner brother.

If the world's a vale of tears,
Smile till rainbows span it!
Breathe the love that life endears,
Clear from clouds to fan it.
Of your gladness lend a gleam
Unto souls that shiver;
Show them how dark Sorrow's stream
Blends with hope's bright river.

Selected Story.

The Village Gossips.

BY FRANCIS HENSAW BADEN.

"Always for the want of news they pine—
And if there's anything in which they shine,
'Tis in arranging all their friends' affairs,
Not minding well their own domestic cares."

Most small towns and villages are noted for the gossiping propensity of their inhabitants, but perhaps no other place enjoyed that reputation to such a degree as the village of Eastville; where the worthy people manifested their understanding of the command, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," by attending to the business and domestic concerns of that or those persons in preference to their own.

Eastville was now busy considering the merits pro and con of the new minister—young Brother Allworth. Yes; at last, they had an unmarried man!

They had sent their delegates to the Convention with the understanding "to accept none but a young man," meaning one unencumbered—the real truth being that the mammas wanted a chance towards matrimony for their daughters—for a wedding was a rare occurrence in Eastville; and the worthy dames had come to the conclusion that if they had an unmarried minister with them, that his friends (brothers in the ministry) who should visit him, most likely, would be like himself—a chance for their girls! And so it was this time; just the one they wanted came.

"Forewarned is to be forearmed," proved a true saying in this case. Brother Heartwell gave his young friend a full and true account of his late charge—their weaknesses, and particularly their "ruling passion."

"Thank you, Brother Heartwell, for the insight you have given me as to the character of my new parishoners, although there appears but poor comfort for me, and little hope that I shall prove a comfort to them, yet I think that your account will aid me somewhat in my future course with my charge," said Mr. Allworth.

He determined not only to govern himself according to circumstances, but likewise to characters. So when with Brother Jones and his cheerful girls, the young minister was perfectly natural, happy and hopeful as these. On the contrary when visiting Sister Smith, whose daughter Patience being of no particular age, and imbibing her mother's gloomy disposition, could not to save her feel content and happy, particularly since Farmer Hayworth had (despite all her endeavors and her mother's invitation to partake of endless good things of her production), gone and married one of those gay worldly Jones' girls. With these folks brother Allworth was grave and rather quiet, conversing on just such subjects as he thought would please them. When surrounded by all dispositions, where extremes met, he endeavored to maintain a happy medium. Thus suiting all—and so it really happened that during the first term of his ministry with the people of Eastville, they had for the only time, one with whom all were pleased. So the delegates went up to Baltimore to attend the annual conference with orders to get Brother Allworth back for another term, and not to hear for a moment of the coming of any other.

It was in Mrs. Hawke's pretty comfortable little cottage that the young minister made his home. One day while this Sister was busily engaged giving his apartment a good cleaning against the return of the occupant, Sister Jones chanced to drop in, and finding what her friend was about, ventured to say:

"You will not have that trouble very much longer, Sister Hawke, I reckon."

"I'd like to know why not I?" replied Sister Hawke.

"Oh, no offence to you. I'm certain sure that Brother Allworth is mightily pleased with his home, but—well, you know it would be only too natural for him to make his home with his wife's relations——"

"Oh, yes! now I know what you mean. Sister Smith was in here a minute ago and she hinted as much herself. Well, Patience is a nice gal, but I should think she was a little too old for our brother—but that's a good fault."

"Sister Smith! Patience! Marry!—Brother Allworth!" gasped sister Jones, scarcely able to speak for her astonishment.

"Why, what an awful——" and here she stopped short, either from prudential motives, or want of breath. Possibly it flashed through her mind that sister Hawke was not a safe person to express her opinion to concerning the truthfulness of another sister, and she did not care to be called up before the church for accusing one of the members of direct falsehood; so, gaining a little composure, she proceeded:

"Sister Smith may think what she says, but I know that brother Allworth only goes there as his duty calls him, and he comes to my house on a different business. Everybody can see—if they choose to use their eyes—that it's my Sally he's looking after. But time will prove who is right. I hope you won't speak of this to anybody."

Sister Hawke, of course, promised to be very quiet, and gained from her sister the same with regard to what she had told her about Patience Smith, and as a testimony thereof, before night all Eastville were busy considering this important question.

The delegates returned. "Is brother Allworth coming back?" was the universal inquiry.

"Yes,"—and then the worthy brother's eyes grew sad, faces long, and shaking their heads in a very ominous manner, said:

"They feared that they had all made a very grave mistake; brother Allworth was not what he should be."

"But he is all he need be for us, and good enough for us," said sister Hawke.

"Ah, so we all thought. But now—oh dear, dear, what wickedness there is in this world! Who can be true? Listen, while I whisper what I know, what my own eyes have witnessed," and Brother Jones whispered in the various sisters' ears the story, but in a voice so low and deep, that we could not catch it, my dear reader, and will have to wait patiently for a while to hear the charge.

A deep groan escaped from the lips of the listeners! And then some one ventured to suggest there must be some mistake.

"No, it was too true. Brother Jones could and would prove it."

"Oh!" groaned forth Sister Smith. "What a deceiving man! How we all loved him! and only think, sister, he has christened our children——"

"Thank heaven, we can have them christened over again!" said Sister Brightthought.

"Buried our dead," resumed Sister Smith.

"That can't be undone," answered another sister.

"Married our daughters——"

"No, not quite, although you offered him a good chance and great inducements."

"And you ought to thank him for resisting your attempts," said Sister Hawke, spitefully, and darting an angry look toward both Sister Smith and Brother Jones. She was very fond of the young minister, and held a slight hope (despite all the seeming truth of the charge) that he would prove all things right in the end.

The minister returned, and very soon discovered that something was wrong.—Every body looked dark and gloomy. The sun even did not seem to shine as brightly, or the sky so blue as it was.—The whole atmosphere was chilled. Merry Sally Jones's ringing laugh was hushed; Patience Smith relaxed into deeper gloom than ever, and his cordial, kind and attentive hostess was quiet, and looked at him so sad, and wore a look of such disappointment whenever he was near her. What could it mean? He never was so happy in his life before! Well, well, he must wait for time to tell the trouble, and appear not to notice it, he thought.

Many secret meetings were held—prayers at various sisters' houses, which he was not invited to attend.

"My time has come at last! I might have known that it would come some time. I could not expect so much better luck than all my predecessors. But what on earth have I done to occasion all this change?"

At last the deacons of the church called a public meeting, and requested the presence of the minister. The usual preliminaries gone through with, one of the deacons arose and stated that:

"With the deepest regret they had felt it their duty to request their brother's presence on that occasion to answer a charge made against him of the gravest character. He trusted that this charge could be met and dealt with in such a manner by their hitherto much respected and beloved brother, that it would not only satisfy the brethren and prove his innocence, but restore their brother to his former high position in their esteem. It had been charged that brother Allworth was in Baltimore during the meeting of conference, in the company of and occupying the same apartments in Barnum's Hotel with—" and here the worthy deacon stopped, drew a long deep breath, and gasped forth—"A married woman!"

The deacon dropped in his seat.

The minister started to his feet. His face flushed with anger—and in a voice quivering with excitement, he demanded the name of the person who dared to utter such a charge against him? One so entirely false.

Brother Jones arose and said it was he, and asked:

"If brother Allworth could persist in denying the charge?"

The minister stopped suddenly then! his hand in his pocket, drew forth his handkerchief, covered his face and sank into his chair.

"Convicted! guilty! His manner proves it too truly!" were the whispered comments.

A profound silence ensued for a few moments, during which was heard a groan or so, and then an audible sob from the bosom of some soft-hearted sister, probably Sally Jones or Mrs. Hawke.

The minister arose, removed his handkerchief, and displayed a face on which were unmistakable signs—not of guilty emotion, but suppressed mirth.

"The hardened sinner!" whispered Sister Smith.

"I cannot deny the charge, brother Jones—it is true," and here the minister's face broke into a becoming smile. "I shall take the pleasure of introducing that lady to you as soon as possible."

A distinct groan now issued from some one, and was immediately followed by many more.

"As my wife! Mrs. Allworth!" added the minister.

After the surprise had subsided in a slight degree, and the whisperings in a measure ceased, the minister proceeded to state:

"That he had, as they well knew, gone to his home a few days previous to the meeting of conference, and then and there consummated an engagement of two years' standing. That his wife accompanied him to Baltimore, and then returned to her home, until the deacons could repair the parsonage, or he could make some arrangements for her reception in the home of one of the kind sisters of the church. That his first answer that the charge was false they must excuse—for it was occasioned by his great surprise; and, in truth, he had hardly gotten accustomed to regard himself in the position of married man, or to remember he had been in company with a married woman."

Not a word more was spoken by the deacons. What could they say? But, one after another came forward, grasped his hand and pressed it warmly. He felt his old position was regained, and they were all glad to have it so. The sisters endeavored to show their regret for their hasty judgment, by every one offering her home for the reception of Mrs. Allworth. Mrs. Hawke was so delighted at his innocence (for "she had nothing to regret, as she had never judged him wrongly" she said) that she actually hugged her favorite, and she didn't care if she did—as she was old enough for his mother.

There was a tear in the eye of merry Sally Jones, and a sigh in the heart of Patience Smith, but they both came forward to clasp their minister's hand.

The people of Eastville had that day received a salutary lesson. And it was impressed forcibly on their minds and deeply in their hearts by the next Sabbath's sermon, in which their minister spoke so feelingly of the wrong of hasty judgments, begged them so earnestly to consider well before they spoke aught of ill; to have charity toward one and all; to rather hide than display their neighbors' faults; to believe in their innocence, until their guilt was proven; to judge not by appearances; and above all, it behooved Christians to keep their hearts from evil thinking and their tongues from evil speaking.

This sermon, and the event which called it forth, made a lasting impression and great improvement in the character of the people of Eastville. The last I heard of them, the deacons were considering the propriety of suggesting that there should be a new article added to those requisite for membership in the church—namely, "That of minding one's own business."

The young minister did admire merry Sally Jones, as her mother had thought, and sang her praises so continually to a brother minister that he induced him to come and know her, which he did, and before many months had passed Eastville rejoiced in a wedding the first time for years so many they could not be remembered. Soon after this happy occurrence there came to visit Brother Allworth, a brother, grave and sorrowful, mourning the loss of a loving wife. 'Twas sad; of course he needed sympathy, and some one to help him mourn. No one could do this more effectually than Patience Smith, and so she did, and is now hand in hand endeavoring to console and comfort him through the journey of life.

All bless the day which brought Brother Allworth among them; the mother and daughter particularly. He suited them in every way. Matrimony is still prevalent. A wedding is no longer a nine-days' wonder and Eastville is fast losing the bad name that had clung to it so long.

The Josh Billings Papers.

THE MONKEY.

The monkey iz a human being, a little undersized, kivvered with hair, hitched to a tail and filled with the devil.

Naturalist will tell you, if you ask them, that I am mistaken, that I mean well enuff, and don't mean tew deceive enneybody, but the monkey iz not a human being, he iz simply a pun on humanity, a kind ov malishus joke ov Jupiter's, a libel, with a long tail tew it, a misterious mixtur ov ludikrous mischief and stale human, a kind ov pacing hobby-hoss, or conneKting gang-plank, between man in his dignity and the beast in hiz darkness.

I have a hi opinyun ov the naturalist, and all kinds ov the dictionary fraternity, and tuch mi hat tew them when we meet, and i respect them for what they know, but kan't worship them for what they don't know az the heathens do their wooden gods.

I don't kare what the philosophers say they can prove in this matter, i tell you confidenshally, mi christian friend, that you and the monkey are relashuns.

I don't pretend tew say that you are brothers and sisters, but i do pretend tew state, that monkeys, or enny other kind ov critters, who exercise reason, even if the light ov it is az dim az a number six dip candle in the rays ov the noonday sun, are our relashuns for a certain amount.

The only fence between the animal and brute folks iz instinkt and reason, and if the natralist kant prove that the monkey don't show a single glimmering ov a reason, I say he must step oph from the monkey's tail, and let him eat at the fust table.

The monkey iz imitative tew the highest degree, and imitashun iz a direkt transgreshun ov the law ov instinkt, and iz fallow ground within the domain of reazon.

Instinkt don't step one single step aside tew smell ov a flower or pull a cat's tail

But argument ain't mi fighting weight, i git along the best by asserting things as they strike me, and i say upwards ov four thousaud things every year that i kant prove enny more than i kan prove what melody iz.

The naturalists may hav their own way, but they kant have mine, what little i know about things haz been whispered tew me by the spirits or some other romping critters, and iz az distinkt and butiful, sumtimes to me az a dream on an empty stummuk, it may be all wrong but it never iz vicious, and thus i konklude it iz edukashun.

Now i don't advise ennybody else tew depend for their learning upon sich prekarious schoolmasters, the best way iz tew follow the ruts, it will take you to town just az it did yure daddy.

The route that i travel iz cirkuitus and blind sometimes, it haz now and then a vista, or a landscape in it, that iz worth, tew me, more than a farm ov tillable land, but you kant raize good white beans on a landskape.

Whenever i drop mi subject, and begin tew strut in the subburbs ov sentimentility and proverbial pomposity, i always think ov a gobble turkey, in a barn yard, on dress parade, and that iz jist what i am thinking ov now, and therefore i will dismount from the turkey and git aboard the monkey, (the monkey az he am) once more.

Pure deviltry iz the monkeys right bower; he iz only valuable, (az personal property) tew look at, and wonder what he is going tew do next.

He iz a jack at all trade, put him in a barber shop, he will lather, and try to shave himself, and color his moustash, put him in a dri good store, and he will handle more goods than the best retail clerk in A. T. Stewart's employ.

The monkey haz not got a logikal head, it iz tew mutch like a pin hed, all in a heap to onst, but his face is a concentrated de drop of malishus mischief.

He resembles the rat tarrier in countenance and skratches his hed as natural as a distrikt school boy, and undoubtedly for the same reason.

Monkeys never grow enny older in expreshun, a young monkey looks jist like his grand papa, melted up and born again.

They are sometimes kept as pets, but i should rather watch two adopted orphan boys fresh from the Home of the Friendless, than two monkeys.

They will eat everything that a man will except bolony sarsage, here they show more instinkt than reason.

But after all, tho the monkey shows evident signs ov reason, they are, as a means of praktikal grace, the most useless kritters i have ever pondered over and scratched my head about.

They won't work and they won't play, unless they can raise some devil, they are too much like a humanbein' in looks and actions to kill off, it is impossible tew gaze at one and git mad at him, and it is impossible tew laff at their smirking satanity, without gitting mad at yourself.

If enny body should make me a present ov a monkey, i don't know now whether i should konsider it intended for malice, or a joke, but i do know that i should send him back by the same person that fetched him, tew the donor, marked in loud italicks—C. O. D.

In konklusion: there iz only one thing that i have a grate supply ov doubt about, in referenct tew the monkey, and that iz his moral stamina, while in the garden uv Eden, with the rest ov the critters, previous to the time that Adam fell;—was he strictly on the square, or wuz he jest az full ov the devil az he iz now?

An answer to the above konundrum iz earnestly solicited.

"Fetch on Your Rats!"

Adam Bepler keeps a tavern in Allegheny. One rather gloomy evening recently, when Adam was in rather a gloomy humor, a stranger presented himself about bedtime, and asked to stay all night.

"Certainly," said Adam, eyeing the rather seedy-looking stranger. "If you take breakfast, it will cost you one dollar."

"But I have no money," said the man. "I am dead broke, but will you trust me——"

"Ah!" said Mr. Bepler, "I don't like that kind of customer. I could fill mine house every night mit dat kind, but dat won't help me run dis house."

"Well," said the stranger, after a pause, "have you got any rats here?"

"Yes," replied the man, "you'd better believe we have. Why, the place is lousy mit dem."

"Well," rejoined the man, "I'll tell you what I'll do. If you let me have lodging and breakfast, I'll kill the rats to-morrow."

"Done," said Bepler, who had long been desperately annoyed by the number of old Norways that infested his premises.

So the stranger, a gaunt, sallow, melancholy-looking man, was shown to bed, and no doubt had a good sleep. After breakfast next morning, Mr. Bepler took occasion in a very gentle way to remind his guest of the contract of the previous night.

"What! Kill your rats! Certainly," said the melancholy stranger. "Where are they the thickest?"

"Dey are putty dick in the barnyard," answered Adam.

"Well, let's go out there," said the stranger. "But stop! Have you got a piece of hoopiron?"

A piece about fifteen feet long was brought to the stranger, who examined it carefully from one end to the other. Expressing himself entirely satisfied, at length, with its length and strength, he proceeded to the barn, accompanied by Mr. Bepler and quite a party of idlers who were anxious to see in what manner the great rat-killer was going to work. Arriving there, the stranger looked around a little, then placed his back firmly against the barndoor and raised his weapon.

"Now," said he to Adam, "I am ready. Fetch on your rats!"

How this scene terminated we are not precisely informed. It is said that, although no rats answered the appeal of the stranger, Mr. Bepler began to smell one pretty strongly at this juncture, and became very angry. One thing is certain, and that is that the new boarder was not at Adam's table for dinner, nor for any subsequent meal. He had suddenly resolved to depart, probably to pursue his avocation of rat-killing in other quarters.

An Affecting Scene at the Depot on the Arrival of the Train—How an Unsophisticated Citizen Purchased a Gold Ring!

We are informed that a little trick was successfully played at the depot in Lock Haven on the arrival of the Bald Eagle train one day last week. The victim was a quiet, kind hearted, old gentleman, who resides in Flemington, and who has but little liking for the bustle and confusion of the young city about the time a train arrives. On this occasion, however, he had deviated from his usual custom, and had strolled down to the depot, where he was walking about on the platform curiously looking at the passengers. Among them was a keen, subtle fellow, well dressed, with a "shiny hat" and polished boots, but with rather a downcast, melancholy look, which indicated that some misfortune had depressed his natural gaiety.

As the train was detained about ten minutes, he hastily circulated among the crowd, and approaching our unsophisticated friend from the Suburbs, accosted him in a meek but gentlemanly manner. After remarking upon the dampness of the day, and the heavy rain that had fallen during the early part of the morning, he began to relate a doleful story of misfortune and tribulation, during which, by degrees, he gradually drew the old gentleman around to the rear of the depot. At the opportune moment he drew from his delicate finger a massive plain ring stamped "18K" fine, and apparently worth twenty dollars. There were sundry initials and dates engraved rather faintly on the inside, indicating to the unpracticed eye that the jewel was a souvenir of wear age, and better days. With a pathetic tone the stranger told how he had been robbed at Tyrone the night before of the last dollar he had, and with becoming modesty and great hesitation, stated that he had not a cent to buy his dinner at Williamsport, where he would have to lay over for the next train, before he could proceed to his home in Baltimore. He wrs reluctantly compelled, therefore, to offer the pawn of his deceased wife's wedding ring until he could get home, when he would remit the money to the ticket agent for its redemption. Would the old gentleman be so kind as to advance him ten dollars on these conditions? Here the tears coursed down his cheeks, and sobs almost choked his utterance, as he spoke of the dear one to whom it had belonged. The old gentleman was moved. His heart melted at the pathetic appeals of the unfortunate young man, and he was disposed to alleviate his distress by taking the ring in pawn. Our suburban friend quietly drew his "weasel skin," and selecting a new ten dollar bill, handed it over, and in turn received the massive ring. A gush of gratitude then ensued, in which the benefactor assured the recipient of his generosity that the loan was no trouble, and that it afforded him great pleasure to be able to aid him. The traveler begged to kiss the sacred jewel once more, and then assured him that immediately on his arrival home the money would be remitted to pay for the return of the ring. The whistle sounded, and the sorrowful young man and the Flemingtonian parted with a cordial adieu, when he jumped upon the train and was soon out of sight.

The old gentleman turned homeward, and as he plodded up the hill on the narrow board walk, chanced to meet a friend to whom he narrated his adventure with evident satisfaction. The ring was produced and exhibited to his friend, which to avoid a long story, resulted in the discovery that the class to which it belonged was exceedingly "brassy," and that they can be purchased for $1.50 per dozen! The old man started with wonder, blushed with rage, and then "swore like the army in Flanders," on realizing how beautifully he had been sold. He even talked about detectives, the telegraph, balloons, carrier pigeons, needle guns, &c., by which he could apprehend the scoundrel and have him punished for so basely deceiving him. But on reflection he concluded that the money could not be recovered, and that the best thing he could do was to pocket his ten dollar brass ring and be wide awake for such customers in the future. He exacted a pledge of secrecy from his friend and plodded up the board walk cogitating upon the deception that is practiced in this world. He is said to be very reticent on the subject of rings ever since, carefully avoiding the depot at train time. The joke was too good to keep, and we were put in possession of the facts on promising to suppress all names.

A Man Almost Licked to Death by Cows.

A fruit thief near Pittsburg, on a recent night fell from a tree which he was plundering, and on being found nearly naked, covered with blood and near dead, in the morning, told this singular story: By his fall he was so severely injured that he was unconscious, but he did not know how long he remained so. When he recovered his consciousness he felt no pain, but on attempting to rise found that one arm and one leg were paralyzed. He did not call for assistance, for fear that he would be arrested, and concluded that he would remain until morning. He soon felt a drowsy sensation, and would have fallen asleep but for a noise which aroused him, and, on looking up, saw two cows near by. The animals advanced towards him, and one of them commenced licking his face and hands. He tried to drive them away, but they had tasted the brackish perspiration which covered his hands and face, and he found it impossible to frighten them. His tormenters persisted in licking him, and finally commenced tearing off his coat and flannel shirt, thus enlarging the exposed surface. This

NO GOING BACK.

Those polititions are shortsighted and foolish who continue to denounce every attempt to establish permanent tranquility by bringing the laws of the South into harmony with the institutions of the country as remodeled by the war. There must not be—there will not be any going backward. Those who carp and grumble are only placing themselves in the position of the boy who sat down upon the banks of the river to wait for the stream to run itself dry. At the latest accounts he was still watching the rolling tide, confident that the water could not hold out much longer! So with the obstructionists of the present day. Repudiating bridges and ferries they loiter lazily upon the river banks, and preach like folly to their deluded followers. Already "the march of events" leaves them far behind, little as they appreciate the fact. Neither prayers, nor lamentations, nor curses can restore the past. The present belongs to us, and if we would fill our places worthily, we must give ourselves to its living duties.

TALK WITH OUR SCHOOL TEACHERS. NO. 1.

As some of our Public Schools have opened and others are about to open, we propose having a few short "talks" with the Teachers of this section of the State. It is not our purpose to dictate to them the manner in which they shall go to work to organize their schools, for we know that what would be exactly suited to one man's mind would be as far as possible from another's tendencies and habits. After the school is organized however, we wish to call attention to some topics which we deem of very great moment to the Teachers, as well as to patrons and scholars.

Teachers! too much prominence cannot be given to the habits of the pupils under your care. Your attention should be early directed to this point. Habits are being formed at an extremely early period of life. Our being is scarcely begun till these begin to take shape; and they will almost certainly take the exact stamp of the moulding influences about us. We cannot escape the contamination of bad example. The habits of the adult will be vitiated by the competing influences around him; how much more, then, the plastic mind of youth will be liable to distortion by the influences of evil association.

And first habits of observation should be sedulously cultivated by every teacher in the minds of his pupils. The broad field of nature, unseated and beautiful, is spread out before young and old, inviting to careful study. Truths as innumerable as the blades of grass in the fields, brilliant as the gems in Golconda's bed, rich as the mines of Ophir, and piled high as the loftiest star that glitters in the heavens, invite the contemplation and thought of every one. Call the attention of your pupils to all these. Teach them in accordance with the precept of HUGH MILLER "to make a right use of their eyes." Let us have a generation educated thus, and much of the idleness and viciousness that crowds our cities, villages and jails, would be, in a great measure, swept from the face of the earth.

Then attention, too, to the moral habits of the pupils should be had. These should have the fostering care of the educator as well as the physical and intellectual. The world of appetite, the world of propensity, the world of desire, the world of affection, the world of passion—full, overflowing, wild, gushing passion—that make men's habits and final destinies so to differ, are to be put in the hands of the Common School Teacher this winter. He or she is to be king or queen in this vast realm of human sensibilities.

Teachers! we would have you fully appreciate your position. Responsibilities greater than those which ever rested on royal greatness press upon you. You are to leave upon immortal minds the impress of uprightness or its opposite. You are to train incipient men and women for usefulness. If you neglect your duty, think of the possible consequences! That you may set out with a resolute purpose to guard well the habits of every child under your care, that the thousands of children in the common schools of the State may be trained in manliness and virtue while being instructed in the mysteries of science and knowledge is the earnest prayer of the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

There is a dignity belonging to journalism which should ever be maintained.—Those who forget or violate it not only disgust the intelligent public, but show themselves unfitted for their position. The political character of a public journalist—his positions and teachings—is public property. Beyond that—to meddle with his personal affairs—we have no license. The general tone of the press in this State is improving. There are, however, a few exceptions. These exhibit neither dignity, ability or decency. If not libellous and vulgar they are nothing. They do not seem to aspire to respectability. It is gratifying to know that their influence is on the wane.

THE GAZETTE.—We have received the announcement that a new paper—the Gazette—will be started at Raleigh on December 1st. It will be Republican in politics, is to be issued weekly, and will be published by ALBERT H. DOWELL Jr. Terms $2.50 per annum.

ANOTHER EUROPEAN WAR THREATENED.

Instead of an early peace and tranquility in Europe, it begins to look as though there would be a general war involving all the Powers. Russia and England are quarrelling. The latter has long looked upon the expanding greatness of the former with jealousy. The English possessions in Asia are in danger. Russia has pushed her Eastern frontier until some of her outposts are alarmingly near to India. Every movement she makes towards the Mediterranean England watches with the greatest anxiety. When, in 1853, the CZAR ordered his troops into the Danubian Principalities to protect the inhabitants, who were members of the Greek Church, from Mohammedan persecution, England was terribly alarmed. She saw as the result the Ottoman Empire destroyed, a Russian Prince holding Court at Constantinople, and, worse than all, the road to India blocked. In order to prevent so dread a consummation England joined the alliance against Russia, and sacrificed a hundred thousand men and several hundreds of millions of pounds sterling in a war by which she gained nothing—not even a little military glory, for France claimed all of that. But Russia was worsted in the contest and forced to sign a treaty of Peace. This was done at Paris on the 30th of March, 1856. Russia was required, among other conditions, to dismantle certain fortresses on her Southern border and to keep her ships of war out of the Black Sea. The treaty was agreed to and signed by France, England, Austria, Sardinia and Turkey.

These stipulations were galling to Russia. She has never been satisfied. She has seemed to be biding her time to abrogate the treaty and free herself from its restrictions. Prussia not being a party to the treaty—she was not invited to join in the conference—is not interested in its preservation, and it is intimated that BISMARK and the CZAR understand each other perfectly and are acting in accord! France is helpless. Turkey and Sardinia are too weak to cope with Russia. England and Austria must bear the brunt of war if war must come. As to England, if she was justified in taking part against Russia in the Crimean war, she has tenfold more reason for fighting now than she had then. Her Eastern possessions are not alone endangered; they are in positive peril.

The educational field in this State is open and ready for workers. The harvest is great but the laborers, alas, are too few. The work is vast and extensive. There is no danger of there being too many laborers. We need them everywhere.

The Legislature met on Monday. Up to going to press we have no word of the organization.

New Books, Periodicals, &c.

THE LITTLE CORPORAL MAGAZINE for November is a beautiful number of a most beautiful juvenile—good enough for the most exacting. Since its enlargement and improvement, and the addition of fine full page and other engravings, THE LITTLE CORPORAL is worthy of a circulation of at least a hundred thousand. The remaining numbers of 1870 are offered free to all who subscribe now for the next year. Don't fail to give your children this sterling juvenile magazine. It is published in Chicago, Illinois, by Sewell & Miller, at one dollar and a half a year, 15 cents for a single copy. Beautiful and generous premiums are given for clubs.

We have received the "STAR SPANGLED BANNER," for December. With its January number this unequaled paper begins its ninth year of successful publication. It is a Rich, Rare and Racy 40 column paper, Illustrated, devoted to Literature, Poetry, Wit, Humor, Fun, and to exposing Swindles and Humbugs. It is only 75 cents a year, and every subscriber receives gratis and prepaid, the new and superb Engraving "PIONEERS OF AMERICA," which cost $1000 to engrave. Specimens can be seen at this office, or will be sent free by addressing "Star Spangled Banner," Hinsdale, N. H.

ONLY A. FIDDLER. A Danish Romance. By HANS CHRISTIAN ANDERSON. New York. Hind and Houghton, 1870.

There is a peculiar attraction about the writings of this author. He is entertaining throughout. His hero, after a glowing and weirdly pathetic childhood, falls in love with the most unattainable young lady he can set eyes on, and lives for her and loses her to great advantage, and wins somebody he had no notion of getting. The history of the "Fiddler" is well written and the characters he meets in his journeyings graphically described. The work is full of the most charming lights, the most melancholy shadows—a pathetic blending of both.

DEMOREST'S YOUNG AMERICA, for December, is sparkling as ever. Provident fathers and mothers, who wish to cultivate the mental appetites of their children and provide for their amusement, will find a rich feast for boys and girls in each successive issue of YOUNG AMERICA. The December number, besides its usual array of entertaining stories, engravings, puzzles, music, poems, etc., has a complete suit of full-size patterns for a doll. Extraordinary premiums are offered to each subscriber, one of which is a fine $5 chromo; or, for two subscriptions, a fine $10 chromo, and splended premiums for clubs. Yearly, $1.50. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 838 Broadway, New York.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK for 1871 will be the forty first year of its existence. It is one of the oldest as well as cheapest and best Ladies Magazines in this country. As in the past, so in the future, it will have contributions from the pens of the best writers. Its steel plates—fourteen of which are given each year—are superior to all others and its colored Fashion Plates have a reputation for correctness the world over. Its Embroidery Patterns, its Original Music, its designs for Model Cottages and its Drawing Lessons are special features and will be continued, and its Children's, Horticultural and Health Departments are of themselves worth the price of subscription. So too are its Tinted Engravings and Ladies' Fancy Work Department. The terms are $3 a year. Address L. A. Godey, Philadelphia, Pa.

THE GALAXY for December is a very varied and interesting number. Mr. THURLOW WEED furnishes another chapter from his autobiography, containing extracts which will only increase the reader's appetite for a repetition of the dish. "An Afternoon at Wilhelmshoche" is an interesting article by ALICE GRAY, and another on "Shakespeare as a Plagiarist," by Mrs. ABBY SAGE RICHARDSON, will be read with attention by many readers. There is a "Tale Told by an Octoroon," by MARIA LOUISE POOL. Philip Quilibet's excellent essays under the title of "Drift-Wood," some light and pleasant reading by Mark Twain, the continuation of several good stories, and many other contributions also lend a value to the magazine. Readers of the Galaxy will be glad to learn that Mr. RICHARD GRANT WHITE will shortly begin a series of papers on "Americanisms." The articles written by this gentleman are always among the most popular features of the magazine. It is also announced that Mrs. EDWARDS will write a new story, and that Col. D. H. STROTHER, (Porte Crayon,) "has been engaged to furnish a series of sketches of life and adventure, which will revive the old interest in his pictures of American scenes."

THE CHRISTMAS LOCKET.—A Christmas number of "Old and New," will be published early in December, as the connecting link between the Old and New Years.

It will contain articles by H. W. Bellows, J. Freeman Clarke, Mrs. H. B. Stowe, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Edward D. Hale, Elise Polko, and others of the most popular contributors to this Magazine.

The subjects of some of the papers contained in it are: What the Christmas-Tree told; Bethlehem, by a traveler lately returned; Christmas in Italy; A Christmas Carol, by Mendelssohn; A Christmas Hymn; A Christmas Sermon; Christmas in Germany; Stand and Wait, a Christmas Story by the Editor; The Three Anniversaries. Price 25 cents, mailed postpaid.

A great offer to Subscribers.—All NEW Subscribers to "Old and New" for 1871 will not only receive the October, November and December numbers of 1870, Free, but also, as an extra inducement, "The Christmas Locket," the Christmas number of "Old and New," which will be sent Free to all new subscribers for 1871, and to all old subscribers who renew before December 1st. ROBERT BROTHERS, Publishers, 143 Washington Street, Boston, Mass.

The December No. of DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, besides giving the words and music of Mdlle. Nilsson's favorite song (Spring and Autumn), and the usual display of the only reliable fashions, useful information, and other rare novelties, gives Mme. Demorest's Monthly Bulletin Plate of Fashions, price 50 cents, as a supplement, all for 25 cents, post free. The premiums offered by this model Magazine for yearly subscribers are unparalleled. A $5 chromo, equal in beauty to a fine oil-painting, size 10x13, is given to each subscriber; while for a club of two, or a two years' subscription, is given the best $15 chromo, "Hiawatha's Wooing," after Jerome Thompson, being $18 in value for only $9 in money, with other splended premiums equally desirable. Address W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 838 Broadway, New York.

We suppose the best stories of odd incidents in the career of ministers are told by clergymen themselves. Imagine yourself listening to a grave Methodist preacher who spoke of having once passed a night at a rough house in the country, and just before going to bed, suggested the reading of a chapter in the Bible and family prayer. The man in the house after a hasty search, could find only a couple of torn leaves of the good book, which he laid on the table, with the remark: "I really didn't know I was so near out of the Bible."

Our readers, whenever their stock of Bibles, or other books run low, should send to Hunter & Co., Hinsdale, N. H., for their catalogues. They supply and mail, prepaid, at the very lowest prices, Books, Novels, Song Books, Albums, Colored Pictures, Photographs, Notions, and everything of the kind. Special attention given to supplying Scientific, Medical and Miscellaneous Works. Catalogues free.

This firm was established in 1860, does the largest business in its line of any house in America, and is perfectly reliable in all respects. Give them a trial.

The Eastern Question.

The news from Europe increase the probabilities of another war in Europe. Prince GORTSCHAKOFF of Russia has issued a circular which is a virtual challeng to the Parties to the treaty of Paris. He assumes to absolve Russia from her obligations. Earl GRANVILLE, on the part of England has addressed a circular to the British Ambassador, at St. Petersburg, a copy of which is to be given to Prince Gortscakoff, on the subject of the recent Russian note on the neutrality of the Black Sea. He reviews the complaint made by Russia, that the treaty has been violated to her prejudice, and he calls her the "assumption" that she is entitled to release herself from certain stipulations, and closes by saying that it is impossible for the British Government to give any sanction to the course announced by Prince Gortschakoff. The views of Earl Granville are shared in by Austria, France and Italy, each of which sends a reply substantially the same, and will adopt the same policy. A telegram from Vienna to the Iddependance Belge, dated Tuesday night, says Great Britain, Turkey, Austria and Italy have agreed to preserve a common attitude toward Russia. A panic in money matters has occurred in Vienna, owing to Russia's threatening attitude. Intense excitement has also been created in Florence, and in London stocks and securities of all kinds have declined, particularly continental securities. A British fleet is preparing to sail, and its destination has been announced at Vienna and Florence. The Government has ordered vessels of war from every station where not actually needed, to concentrate at Portsmouth, where an unusual number of war vessels is already to be seen. Great activity prevails in all the British naval depots. According to another dispatch a powerful fleet will sail at once for the Mediterranean.

The violations of the treaty of which Russia complains are understood to have occurred when the Prince of Wales entered the Black Sea in an English frigate; when Lord Bulwer Lytton made a similar excursion; on the appearance of an Austrian squadron which conveyed the Emperor on a visit to Varna, a Turkish city; and lastly, when the Sultan made a voyage in a Turkish frigate, on which occasion Russia protested ineffectually.

LATER.

A London dispatch says, according to the treaty of 1856 an overt act is necessary before the treaty can be regarded as broken. Prussia, it is said, in case of a revision of the treaty, will consent to no restriction on the free action of the Czar. The substance of the reply of the Russian Government to Lord Granville, is received by cable. It adopts a conciliatory tone, but remains firm in the position originally adopted. She denies that the movements of the Principalities in contravention to the treaty of Paris inured to her advantage; declares that a Congress is impracticable in the present state of the principal European Powers; disdains any hostile intentions or desire to disregard any of the provisions of the treaty of Paris but those which are generally admitted to be unjust and oppressive against her; and repeats her intention to act upon the previous notifications in regard to the Black Sea. The feeling in England, on saturday, was more peaceful than on Friday. Queen Victoria, through the Prince of Wales, it is said, has expressed to the Cabinet her disapproval of Earl Granville's reply to Russia; and John Stuart Mill and Mr. Froude have written letters to the Times in behalf of peace. The feeling in Vienna, expressed through the journals, is Anti-Russian; but from Florence it is reported that the Italian Government will on no account join in the diplomatic move against Russia. Prussia, it is announced, will consent to a Congress of the Great Powers, only on condition that her relations with France shall not be discussed thereat.

The November Eelctions.

We summarize the results of the recent election as follows:

New York.—Democrats elect state ticket by about 30,000 majority, against 68,850 maj, two years ago. Mayor Hall re-elected in New York City by greatly reduced maj. James H. Grant, a prominent tobacco manufacturer died in Richmond Saturday, morning. He was about 62 years of age. At the time of his death, Mr. Grant was the largest man in statue in Richmond and weighed probably 500 pounds. His business connections extended throughout the United States. He leaves many relatives and friends.

In the special election for State Senator from New Hanover county, Price, the colored Republican candidate, received a majority of 658 in the city of Wilmington over Mr. Bellamy, the Democratic candidate. The district is composed of the counties of Brunswick and New Hanover.

Foreign War News.

From the papers of the 15th we learn that the material results from the victory at Orleans are claimed in Tours to have been greater than at first reported. Many Germans have been found concealed in the woods and outbuildings of the towns, where they took refuge and several cannon, abandoned in the hasty retreat, have been discovered. A French General who failed to capture a body of 5,000 Bavarians who were surrounded in a wood, and who subsequently escaped, has been dismissed from the army. Promotions on the field were numerous.

The German bombardment at Thionville has resulted in firming the city at different points, and on Saturday the entire city seemed to be burning. The Germans have advanced to La Fer, in the north. The inundation of the environs of Dunkirk by the French is proposed as a measure of defense, and the Belgian authorities, in view of the fact that greater damage would result to the Belgian population across the border than to anybody else, have entered into negotiations with the French authorities to prevent it.

A tunnel on the Strasbourg Railroad has fallen and shut off German communications by that line. According to a London dispatch Paris is "distressingly short of provisions." The Gardes Mobiles, of Evreaux, repulsed the Prussians in an engagement there on Saturday last.

From the papers of the 16th we have a synopis of the Russian circular on the Paris treaty Oct. 31, setting forth the successive alterations and violations of European treaties, and among them the points in which the Treaty of 1856 has been violated, it declares that Russia is unable to see why she should observe the latter when it has disregarded by others and accordingly disowns the obligation to limit the enjoyment of the Euxine Sea, and invites Turkey to an equal participation in the privileges claimed. The circular denies any intention to revive the "Eastern Question," and says Russia only desires increased defensive strength. A substitute has been prepared by the Russian Government, arranging the question at issue on an equitable basis. The Opinione, of Florence, thinks the Power will grant the demand. The Austrian Cabinet is represented to be disappointed at Mr. Gladstone's dispatch the Russian circular, and likens him to Lord Aberdeen. A British naval squadron is to be stationed in the Mediterranean to observe Russian movements. A Russian fleet of sixty ironclad gun-boats is said to be already in the Black Sea. M. Deaux, in the Hungarian Diet yesterday, urged the Imperial Government to resist Russian pretensions, but the opposition desire a peaceful arrangement.

Prince Frederick Charles is said to be within five days' march of the Army of the Loire. His forses are set down at 100,000, and occupy Doulevant, Troyes and Sens. They are thus spread over a distance of sixty miles, and the most advanced portion is fifty miles from the nearest point at which he can hope to reinforce Gen. von der Tann. A Tours telegram contains a rumor of the surrender of a large body of Bavarians, near Artenay, on Monday. The French camp at Artenay is strongly fortified, and armed with cannnon of long range. According to a Tours telegram, the Bavarians are deserting from von der Tann in large numbers, and are captured and brought to the towns by the French peasantry. Gen. de Paladines has been made commander-in-chief of the Army of the Loire.

From the papers of the 17th we learn that the French forces occupy Chartres and Dreaux, which has giveu rise to the belief in Berlin that a movement is in progress to attack the western flank of the army investing Paris. A Versailles dispatch says all is quiet on the Loire and at Paris. The Prussians are sending more artillery to Paris. The German Army of the North has occupied Chauny, in the Department of the Aisne, from which point it is asserted they threaten Cambrai, Rocroy, La Fere and other fortified places in the North. Garibaldi, it is said, is abandoning the line of the Vosges, and that the Prussians have, in consequence, advanced to Dole. A Lyons dispatch says Dijon has been reoccupied by the Prussians in strong force.

Brom the papers of the 18th we learn that the French garrison at Belfort, made a sortie on the 16th, but were repulsed by the Germans losing 258 in killed, woundsd and prisoners. Gen von der Tann is still falling back, and of course is nearing the advance of the army of Prince Frederick Charles, two columns of which have crossed the Youne at Sens.

According to a Berlin dispatch, the treaty has been signed by both parties admitting HesseDarmstadt into the North German Confederation. Negotiations for the admission of Bavaria are said, on the same authority, to be in a satisfactory state. The members elect of the North German Parliament, so far as known, embrace 180 Conservatives, 20 Old Liberals, 110 National Liberals, 40 Progressives, 40 Catholics, and 30 unclassified.

On Wednesday a Prussian bark was blown up off the coast of Ireland by a French frigate. The erroneous report of the capture of two German American steam-ships is believed to have grown out of the above capture. The French fleet is very active in the Baltic and North Seas, and a report prevails that the German fleet has been captured in the River Jahde.

From the papers of the 19th we see that a Versailles dispatch says King William has telegraphed to the Queen that the Grand Duke of Mucklenburg, on the 17th, defeated the French near Dreaux, and that Gen. Treskow, at the same time captured the town, taking many prisoners, and pursuing the enemy in the direction of Le Maus. A London dispatch says it is ascertained that the Prussians in front of the Army of the Loire had not retired to Artenay. They now are said to hold all the strongholds along the line of the Jura Mountains. A "special" to the Manchester Guardian however, says that the Army of the Loire was at Etampes, within thirty miles of Paris, on the 17th. Langroy and Montmedy are to be besieged. A sortie from Meziers was repulsed by the First Prussian Infantry.

From the papers of the 21st we learn that there has been a good deal of activity in the operations in the North, but no decisive engagement has been fought. The bombardment of Montmedy is now confined to the fortress by the Prussians. Wednesday last a sortie was made from the besieged place by two companies of the Garde Mobile, and every one was either killed or taken prisoners. According to a London telegram Mr. Gladstone's "imprudence in writting to the London Times on the situation, over the signature of "Scrutator," is much commented on. A communication in reply has been written by Max Muller. Bismarck is said to be "extreemely vindictive" toward Mr. Gladstone for his comments on the Prussian policy. It is reported in London from Tours that England has renewed her proposal for an armistice, based on a pecuniary waa compensation, the razing of the frontier fortresses, and the neufralization of Alsace and Lorraine, the Great Powers guaranteeing the fulfillment of these conditions by any future French Government. It is further understood that the Provisional Government opposes this—Rumors are again current in London of an early concentrated attack of the French upon the Prussians befdre Paris. According to a Paris balloon letter 10,000 half-starved Parisians are to be soon driven from the city, by order of Gen. Trochu, as food can no longer be provided for them.

The Secretary of the Navy has ordered a test of California coal at the Navyyard in that State, in order to determine whether it is adapted for steam egineering purposes. If so a large expense will be avoided in shipping coal from the East to the Pacific coast for naval purposes.

George D. Carey, a condemned murderer, now awaiting execution at the Onondaga County Penitentiary, New York, recently wrote a most affecting letter to his brother, in which he besought him to abstain from liquor, as it had brought him to his present position, and from card playing, as that was the first step on the road to the gallows.

There is said to be an accumulation of nickel and copper coins in the Post Offices throughout the country amounting to forty million cents. As a means of getting rid of this mass of coin, a portion of which is not redeemable at all, it is proposed to authorize the several Assistant Treasurers to give receipts for the same which may be used for making returns to the Post Office Department.

The court-martial on the colored Cadet at the West Point Military Academy found him guilty of striking another Cadet, and sentenced him to an increased guard duty as punishment. When the sentence came to be revised at Washington it was disproved by Secretaay Belknap as insufficient, and Smith was ordered to be released from arrest.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

The Land and Lumber Co.

Water Street,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In again presenting our list of lands and other property for sale, we repeat that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A large new brick building in the town of Elizabeth City, on Water street, opposite the market house, and one of the most eligible locations in the town for the mercantile business. The building is 70 feet long by 35 feet wide. The lower story is neatly fitted up with shelves, drawers, counters, &c., for a store, and the second story is finely finished with parlor, sitting room, and four good size bed rooms—all in perfect order. There is nearly a half acre of land that goes with it, and in the rear of the store, is a good two story wood building, cook house, pantries, dairy, &c., and such modern fixtures as will render a family able to live in good style. It is one of the best stands in the town for a merchant, wholesale, or retail. The party owning it is largely in debt, and compelled to sell, hence it is offered at the low price of $3,200, one half cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Possession given immediately.

For a merchant who wishes to make money at the mercantile business rapidly, who desires to settle in the most rapidly rising town in North Carolina; who wishes to enjoy good society, live in a strong union community where Northern men and their families are received both in the social and business circles, on equal footing with the most favored of our own people; and where the climate is the most genial and healthful to be found anywhere, this is the place to come and buy. And then too it is at a point suited for all sorts of business, being in direct water communication with twenty of the richest counties in the State, and having a harbor with water 10 feet deep, and in easy and cheap access with all the civilized world. A point possessing all these advantages, and many more, too numerous to mention, and for property so cheap as this, is an inducement offered, unparalleled in any part of the United States.

A large brick building nearly new, and well built, in the town of Elizabeth City, three stories high, 100 feet long and 40 feet wide, with a wing 40 feet square, situated in the business part of the town, and within forty yards of the wharf where steamers and sailing vessels are arriving and departing nearly every hour in the day. The daily line of steamers from Norfolk to E. City, have their depot and landing at this wharf. There is vacant land enough adjoining for sale at low prices to make over two acres. There is nearly a half acre that will go with this property.

This is the finest building in the town for a large hotel and is the most eligibly located for that purpose. And, since four hotels were burned here during the war, and the business is now imperfectly carried on, this is a splendid opening for a person to make a large amount of money at hotel keeping. This building commands a view of the river for miles, and all the shipping in the port can be seen from it. It is offered at forced sale at $7,500, one half cash, balance in one and two years, with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

One of the most desirable, and at the present best paying farms in Eastern North Carolina, is offered for sale; situated in Perquimans co., N. C., 12 miles from E. City, and two from Perquimans river, embracing a large portion of the celebrated Turkey Ridge body, and being elegantly adapted to the growth and culture of corn, wheat, oats, peas, cotton and clover, and the various grasses. Nearly the entire farm is under a system of successful culture, with good fences, well drained, having on it a good dwelling with 4 rooms, several good tenant houses and the necessary out-houses, together with a barn, 50 by 70 feet, with machine shelter attached, 30 by 70 feet, stables 28 by 50, and blacksmith shop. 600 acres is under cultivation and 100 acres in grass pasture. There is also deadened and in condition to be reduced to cultivation about 200 acres of naturally the most fertile land in this whole country, the balance in nice timber, in all about 1,400 acres. The object of the owner in offering this valuable estate for sale, is this: He has another large farm on which he resides, and is also a practicing physician, which necessarily requires his whole time and personal attention, and wishes to relieve himself of this extra anxiety and care. To a party seeking a permanent investment, or to those wishing to establish a small colony, this plantation holds out peculiar inducements. If desired, the stock of horses, mules, oxen, hogs, corn and fodder now on the farm, together with all the necessary farming implements will be sold with it at reasonable rates. This property with the improvements, cost, before the war, $45,000, and is now offered for $28,000. Terms—one-fourth cash, residue in one, two and three years from date of sale.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

Two valuable tracts of land in Perquimans county, N. C., nearly opposite each other, one containing 565 acres with fine buildings, and valued at $7,000 the other has 538 acres, with ordinary buildings, land good, sold at forced sale for $5,000 cash. There is a great bargain in these tracts of land, and emigrants are especially invited to look at them early.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Bankrupt Notices.
C. L. Acker.
Notice.
Turner's N. C. Almanac 1871.
Properties for sale.

Local and Personal.

☞ Blue Fish have appeared in our market.

☞ The story on our first page is republished by request. It has an excellent moral.

☞ Our correspondent "L. V. N." will find our answer by reading the 12th verse of the XXVI chapter of Proverbs.

☞ Will the gentleman who borrowed "Mrs. WILLARD'S work" from our Library be kind enough to return it?

☞ The Annual Report of the Finances of Pasquotank County will be published in our next issue.

☞ D. B. BRADFORD & Co. have had their New Goods for some time and are doing a large business. It is a live and go ahead firm. Success to it.

☞ Late hours, says a cotemporary, are apt to lead either to the penitentiary or—matrimony. Reflect over it, young men.

☞ Our friend STEGER, the Baker and Confectioner, is enlarging his sales room. This is an evidence of increasing business. He deserves the patronage he is receiving. Let it still increase.

☞ Among the Northern arrivals since our last we notice ROBERT PORTER and SAMUEL POWELL, of Clearfield, Pa.; J. S. BOOSE and WM. CAMPBELL, of Audenreid, Pa.

☞ There are still a number of old buildings in our City which are "eyesores"—some of them nuisances. They should be removed. And the sooner the better.

☞ There is a splendid opening here for a Pottery. The clay is admirably adapted for the manufacture of earthern ware. And such ware would find an extensive sale.

☞ Our friends in the different parts of the District would place us under special obligations if they would take more pains in sending us items of local news. They could aid us very much if they would do so.

☞ We call the attention of our Edenton and surrounding country readers to the Card of C. L. ACKER, Watchmaker and Jeweler. He has the reputation of being a first-class workman.

☞ This day—Thursday November 24th—has been set apart by the President of the United States and by the Governor of North Carolina as a day of Thanksgiving. The Mayor of our City has issued a notice respectfully requesting that all places of business be closed.

☞ "JENNIE." The invention of the Piano Forte is ascribed to C. G. Schroeter, of Dresden. The first one was made in 1717 and presented by the maker to the King of Saxony. The first one ever bronght to this countrv was about the year 1781.

☞ To "M. M." The dates you ask for are: Turkey declared war against Russia Oct. 3, 1853; Russia declared war against Turkey Nov. 1, 1853; England and France declared war against Russia March 27, 1854; Hostilities ceased Feb. 29, 1856. Peace was proclaimed April 2, 1856,

☞ Our cotemporary of the Williamston Express may rest easy. To attempt argument on him at this time would be "loves labor lost." We are reminded of the story of the Irish Priest who, complaining of the bad behaviour of his flock, was told to try the Gospel on them. He scornfully replied that he wasn't going "to waste it on the likes o'them."

☞ We frequently receive letters from parties informing us that they have sent money to A., B. or C., to hand over to us for subscriptions. Through forgetfulness or some other cause, we do not always get it. Better send direct to us—in registered letter or Postal order—and we will be sure to receive it, and the party remitting will have evidence that it was sent.

☞ The immediate cause of premature fading or blanching of the hair is an obstruction of the oil vessels which afford the coloring matter. The remote causes may be general ill health, trouble of mind, etc. Hence, in order to restore its natural color and beauty the oil vessels must be restored to their normal condition. It is on this principle that NATURE'S HAIR RESTORATIVE is compounded, and it has proved a complete success, wherever faithfully applied. It is not a poisonour dye, consequently the effect is gradual, and in severe cases two or three bottles are necessary to produce the desired result. See advertisement.

☞ The Republican Executive Committee have issued a call for a meeting in the Court House on Monday evening next for the purpose of nominating candidates for Mayor and five Commissioners. All Republicans are respectfully invited to attend.

☞ "STUDENT." It is impossible to tell with precision how old our mother Earth is. Like some other "mothers," she does not seem inclined to reveal the facts of her age. The Chronologists, who take the Mosaic account of the creation in a literary sense as the basis of their calculations, do not exactly agree. Nor is there entire agreement among Geologists.

☞ In advocating our system of Public Instruction a few days ago, we met the objection of a farmer who was inclined to think that the more the work of education progressed the more the danger of not having hands to till his farm would increase. We could not agree with him. It is not necessary for a laborer to be as ignorant as the ox he drives. Ignorance never made labor more valuable.

☞ We hear a good deal of complaint from many of our subscribers that their neighbors are continually borrowing their copies of the NORTH CAROLINIAN. It is all wrong. Indeed we are not sure that such people are good neighbors. It is an old Scandinavian proverb that when Satan wishes to angle with and finally catch a man, he first sets him to borrowing! Just think of it. It is not safe—it isn't fair—it isn't honest. The subscription price of our paper places it within the reach of all. Those who borrow it are evidently interested in it or they would not go to this trouble. Let them subscribe and cease to annoy their neighbors.

☞ Now is the time to advertise in order to make an active holiday and winter trade. Don't be content with knowing that you are personally popular and well known, but persist in the public becoming acquainted with the goods you offer for sale and the advantages they gain in dealing with you. Suppose you are well and favorably known your advertisement would make a still more favorable impression upon the public. Advertisements are more generally read than some persons imagine, and when people are on the way to purchase goods, they are like handboards on the public highway to guide them. They direct people where to buy. They are constantly telling people and constantly reminding them of your goods and business. They pay.

☞ The annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was held this year at Lynchburg, Va. The next session is to be held at Portsmouth, Va. By the following list of appointments it will be seen that Rev. S. S. LAMBETH has been selected for Elizabeth City. Our friend Rev. W. P. WRIGHT goes to Gates. A new republican paper, the Union Republican, has made its appearance in Wilmington.

The majority for James H. Platt, Republican, in the Second Congressional District of Virginia, is about 4,700.

A fire at Leavenworth, Kansas, on Tuesday afternoon, destroyed the Montauk Flour Mills, owned by Wilhiat Brothers, and valued at $45,000.

The Fair of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association, at Wilmington, N. C., is pronounced a "splendid success," and the "finest industrial exhibition ever witnessed in North Carolina."

The visit of Mr. Seward to Japan is described as the event of the month. The first interview ever accorded to a private individual by the Mikado was granted to Mr. Seward.

A committee, appointed by the Spanish Cortès, has set out for Florence to tender the Crown of Spain to the Duke of Aosta. The Cortes have adjourned to await the return of the committee.

During the late hurricane in the West Indies, several vessels were wrecked on the Salt Bank, Bahamas, of which the crews and cargoes were totally lost, no one surviving to tell the tale of disaster.

A fire occurred in Felgner's tobacco factory on South Charles-street, Baltimore, on the 26th. The entire loss to that and adjoining buildings was upward of $70,000, and one man was killed and two injured.

THE "STERN PARIENT."—Daughter—"Well, to tell the truth, I did not think much of the close of the sermon." Father—"Probably you were thinking more of the clothes of the congregation."—Punchinello.

A jilted swain spitefully says: "Eve did not know as much as her daughters of the present day. Had they been in her place, instead of being deceived, they would have deceived the devil."

The Springfield, (Mass.,) Republican asserts that there is a family in that city, each one of the members of which, with a single exception, was born upon a holiday—the father upon the Fourth of July, the mother on Christmas, the first child on Thanksgiving Day, the second on Christmas, the third on Independence Day, the fourth and fifth each on New Year's, the sixth three weeks before Christmas, (slight discrepancy there), and the seventh on Christmas.

A milkman in Massachusetts was surprised, on the morning after election, by the payment of a small bill held by him against one of his customers. The good woman explained to him that her husband "had got $2 for his vote, and she wished there was an election every week." Votes seem to be very cheap up there.

The gin-house of Mr. Wm. R. Smith, of Scotland Neck, Halifax county, together with contents, including 60 bales of cotton, was burned by incendiaries on Monday night last about midnight. Loss about $6,000; insured for $2,000.

A Washington dispatch says that Russia has informed the Austrian Government officially that the treaty of 1856, so far as it relates to the Black Sea, will no longer be observed. This is assumed to have a bearing on Austrian mediation between Prussia and France, and Russia is said to have watched Austrian military preparations since the breaking out of the war, and to have increased her army in a double ratio to that of Austria. A London dispatch says that the rumor is current there, and credited in diplomatic circles, that Russia has informed all the Powers that she considers the treaty of Paris of 1856 abrogated.

ERRORS OF YOUTH.—A gentleman who suffered for years from Nervous Debility, Premature Decay, and all the effects of youthful indiscretion, will, for the sake of suffering humanity, send free to all who need it the recipe and directions for making the simple remedy by which he was cured. Sufferers wishing to profit by the advertiser's experience can do so by addressing, in perfect confidence,
JOHN B. OGDEN,
22-1y. No. 42 Cedar Street, New York.

$100 CHALLENGE.—It is stated that one tablespoonful of English Female Bitters contains as much medical properties as one bottle of any of the advertised drug-shop Bitters of the day, and the proprietors offer a challenge of $100. 19—4t.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A BODY AND MIND DISEASE.—Such is dyspepsia! The stomach and the brain are too intimately allied for the one to suffer without the other, so that dyspepsia and despondency are inseparable. It may be added too, that for this ill no remedy is found invariably accompanied by irritation of the temper.

The invigorating and tranquilizing operation of Hostetter's Bitters is most powerful developed in cases of indigestion. The first effect of this agreeable tonic is comforting and encouraging. A mild glow pervades the system, the chronic uneasiness in the region of the stomach is relieved, and the process of digestion is characterizes the disease is subdued. This improvement is not transient. It is succeeded by a return of the old symptoms with superadded force, as is always the case when unmedicated stimulants are given for the complaint. Each dose seems to impart a permanent accession of healthful invigoration. But this is not all. The ingredient and antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary in importance to its tonic virtues. If there is an overflow of bile the secretions soon brought within proper limits, and if the biliary organ is inert and torpid it is toned and regulated. The effect upon the discharging organs is equally salutary, and increases a confidence in the curative action is not misplaced to produce the double result gradually and without pain. The Bitters also promote health by expulsion from the surface which is particularly desirable at this season when sudden chills or over exposure are apt to check the natural perspiration and produce congestion of the liver, coughs, and colds. The best safeguard against all diseases is healthy vigor, and this the great Vegetable Restorative effectually promotes. 19-4t.

For Consumption and its attendant complaints of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Genital Organs, and all affections Peculiar to Women. For sale by all Druggists. Send for Circular.

$1,000 REWARD for any case of Blind, Bleeding or Itching PILES that Dr. BING'S PILE REMEDY fails to cure. It has cured cases of 20 years standing. Try it, and get rid of the most troublesome disease flesh is heir to. Sold by all Druggists.

FOR THIRTY YEARS.—Has the well-known, standard and popular remedy, Pain Killer, manufactured by Perry Davis & Son, Providence, R. I., been before the public, and in that time has become known in all parts of the world, and is used by people of all nations.

It remains, today, that same good and efficient remedy. Its wonderful power in relieving the most severe pain has never been equalled, and its real merit has won a world-wide popularity by its intrinsic merit. No curative agent has had so wide-spread sale or given such universal satisfaction. The various ills to which the Pain Killer is an unfailing cure are too well known to require the capitalization in this advertisement. As an external and internal medicine, the Pain Killer stands unrivaled. Directions accompany each bottle which is now more varied and complete than I have ever offered for sale in this market.

I have also an extensive assortment of
DRY GOODS,
BOOTS, SHOES
NOTIONS &c. &c.

All of which I offer for sale at the Drug Stand, and to which your atention is invited. Wishing to onlarge my business, I intended to build a store adjoining the Drug Store in which to put the general merchandise, but my ill health during the summer kept me frum doing so.
I thank my friends for their very liberal patronage in the Drug business, not only for the few past months but for the many years I have had their patronage, and do assure them that I expect to keep a first-class Drug store in the future as in the past. That in mixing the stock as I have it is with no intention of giving up the drug business, which I anticipate engaging in as long as I live. I have ample room in my store, by using part of the space above, to carry on both branches of business, with my large ware house rooms &c. At an early day I propose to remove the Dry Goods &c., into an adjoining store, and to resume the speciality of Drugs at the drug stand.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

Liberal Farmers.

A close mean fisted farmer, is one of the characters sometimes met with, but of which there should not be one in existence, for if there is any occupation in the world that should teach liberality, it is that of agriculture. We do not, by this, mean that a farmers' occupation is so remunerative, that he can afford to be wasteful of his means, or that he should indulge in the extravagence of so many wealthy ones of the land, but there is that in his own vocation, which demands a liberal spirit.

The farmer should be liberal in the purchase of the best implements. It is false economy to suppose that work can be as well and cheaply done with inferior, as with superior implements and machines.

He should be liberal in the matter of seed purchasing. There is no method by which a farmer can so readily illustrate the old adage of "Saving at the spile and wasting at the bung-hole," as in the selection and purchase of seed he not only buys weeds that may ruin his land, but he cannot hope to have good crops from such a source.

He should be liberal in feeding his stock. No greater mistake can be made, than that it is economy to stint horses, sheep or cattle. A poorly fed horse will not do near so much work, as one well cared for. Cows that are stinted in pasture or in stable, cannot be expected to any other than poor milk, and small quantities at that. Hogs that are but half fed, never grow fat, and their meat is tough and dry.

He should be liberal with his workingmen. The farmer who stints his laboring men at the table, or who tries to exact from them more than a fair day's labor, will be the loser in the end, for men thus treated will have their revenge in some shape or other. It may be set down as a fixed and unalterable fact, that a liberal spirit manifested towards the employees of the farm, is always repaid in the greater amount of and better quality of the work done.

He should be liberal in regard to publications devoted to the interests of agriculture. The farmer who feels that he is too poor to take two or three of the leading agricultural journals, must be poor indeed. We would not like to prophesy wealth for such a one. In these days of scientific progress, no man who desires to keep pace with the improvements of the age, can afford to do without the very agricultural newspapers. They are as essential to his success, as horses, implements and good seeds.

He should be liberal in the use of manures. As well expect "grapes from thorns or figs from thistles" as good crops from poorly manured lands. A soil can be starved as well as a man, a horse or an ox. Without liberal manuring successful farming is impossible. He should be liberal to himself. Honest and patient industry are among the indispensiable requisites of success, but there is such a thing as being too industrious. A farmer who toils without stint, who feels that every hour devoted to pleasant recreation is an hour lost, and who labors from early dawn, to dark nighs wears himself out prematurely, and wholly unfits himself for the true enjoyment of life. Be industrious, be preserving, but do not forget that the psalmist has told us, "There is a time to work a time to play."

Be liberal in all your doings, and you will find that the liberal spirit waxeth rich.

Twenty-five Bushels of Apples from one Tree.

There is no investment which repays the farmers so liberally, as planting good fruit trees. We have witnesses all over the land to this assertion. Mr. J. B. Price, Ala., writes us that he has measured twenty-five Bushels of apples from one tree, this season. This tree was transplanted, did not cost exceeding 25 cents, it did not occupy more ground 20 x20 and not more than an hour's labor has been given to it annually, for the past five years,—all included, could not have made that apple tree cost Mr. Price, more than $1,25. Now the apples on that tree, were worth, at the lowest estimate, 50 cents per bushel—being for one season, $12,50, making for 1870, $11 clear dividend.

And this large yield can be kept up by proper pruning and manuring, for the period of eight years. The sum of $11 multiplied by 8, will make the total profits of one good apple tree, $88 for 8 years. —Can cotton, tobacco, wheat or other field crop surpass this? If any of the readers of this journal, can figure up any field crops that equal this, we would be pleased to publish them.

We would have been pleased to have some of these apples from Florence, to exhibit at the Louisville and Jefferson County Fair, as a striking contrast from the most prolific tree of Alabama. If any fruit grower in Kentucky can measure more than 25 bushels from one tree, we will be glad to herald the fact.—Southern Agriculturist.

Wind Galls.

A gall is a swelling that appears on each side of the back sinew above the fetlock, and injures the sale of many fine horses. Many puncture them, which is a wrong thing, as it often produces an incurable lameness. Procure the best kerosene oil possible, and bathe the spot two or thre times a day, until you see the gall has diminished. Dip the end of you finger in the oil and rub it in well; then put a tight bandage of cloth around the gall. Be careful and not let the oil spread more than is necessary, for if allowed to run down the fetlocks it will cause a bad sore. If the gall be a bad one, and the oil should cause a sore, heal with green ointment.

SWOLLEN UDDER.—The Toronto Globe says: Swollen bag, or inflamation of the udder, is usually treated best by cold applications. Apply a broad web of cloth around the cow, and cut holes in it to deep out the teats, then place some tow between the cloth and the udder, and keep it constantly moist with cold water. Give a good dose of purgative medicine, as three quarters of a pound of epsom salts, dissolved in three quarts of water. When the swelling subsides, hand-rub the udder several times a day, and give internally one drachm of the iodide of potassium daily for eight or ten days. The cow should be kept in a cool box or stall, and not exposed to the hot sun.

FEEDING SHEEP.—A person to succeed in sheep feeding, must do it because he likes to do it—because he prefers to feed sheep and see them eat, to any other business done in winter; and although he may not be able or willing to do the work himself, still he must take delight in seeing it well attended to if he expects to prosper. He should be sure to see every sheep he has, at least once a day, when, if he understands his business, he can tell at a glance whether they have been properly cared for.—Ohio Farmer.

LOAF CAKE.—One cup of sponge or two cups of light dough, one cup of sugar, half a cup of butter, two eggs, half a teaspoonful of soda, one cup of raisins. Spices to taste.

WEST MORELAND.

The undersigned gives notice, that the Westmoreland Plantation, on which he now resides, is for sale.

Westmoreland, is in Pasquotank county, 12 miles from Elizabeth City, near Newbegun Creek. It contains about 825 acres; of which about 125 acres are in wood, conveniently located. The woodland is abundant to supply the Plantation, and there is a lot of Cypress, which will afford building material, for the place for all time to come. The land lies nearly in a square, and is surrounded by four good public roads, which intersect each other, at right angles. There are about 700 acres in cultivation; it is in a high state of improvement, well drained, and produces heavy crops. The whole Plantation, is enclosed with a Juniper and Cypress rail fence, of the best quality, and will require but little repairs, for many years. There are three fields fenced off, each connecting with the Barn Lot, one of 100 acres, one of 60 acres, and one of 50 acres, convenient for small grain, clover or pasturage. The lands produce Corn, Cotton, Wheat, Oats and Peas, in great abundance, and grows Clover, and the grasses most luxuriantly. It is well adapted to all sorts of garden vegetables. There is an abundant supply of fruit for the use of a large family, consisting of the finest Standard Pears, bearing abundantly, from the 15th of July to the 15th of October. Peaches, Cherries, Plums and a lot of dwarf Pears, Peaches, Apricots, Apples and Cherries, set out last fall. A fine lot of Raspberry bushes from which, there are picked daily, during the season, from 2 to 4 Gallons of berries. A large and thrifty Scuppernong Grape Vine, and Isabella grape vines, bearing luxuriantly, and a fine lot of fig bushes, in full bearing. The buildings are located in a large and beautiful grove of forest trees. The lot is high and pleasant. The main Dwelling House, is a large and elegant building, with 9 rooms, 5 of them with fire places, a large Hall, 12 feet wide, a large pantry, and a verandah, on both the North and South sides of the house, all perfectly and elegantly finished. Attached to the main building is a wing 25x30 feet, two stories high, well finished. This building can, very well be used for a separate family. There are two kitchens or cook-houses, two smoke houses, two poultry houses, dairies, and indeed every out-building required for a large family, and sufficient for the accommodation of two or three families.

The farm buildings comprise four tenant houses, each 2 rooms, 3 small barns for tenants use, tool-house, blacksmith shop, a barn, now used for a Gin House 20x52 feet; a large barn 42x72 feet; and a stock house two stories high, 30x50 feet, the upper story used as a hay loft, with a shed on each side.

There are two wells of water, which are said to be among the best in the country. The barn is ¼ of a mile from the creek, where all the produce is delivered, on vessels. There are four roads leading from the lot to the four main points, one running North, one East, one South and one West, and each about ½ of a mile to the main road. Westmoreland has long been acknowledged as one of, if indeed it is not the most valuable plantation, in the county, or in Eastern North Carolina.

Persons wishing to purchase, are invited to come and examine the property, every effort will be made to enable visitors to form a correct opinion. There have been 6 or 8 farms, adjacent to this one, sold to Northern men, within a year past.

My price is $30 per acre. I refer to Dr. P. John; Hon. G. W. Brooks; T. D. Pendleton, Esq., R. F. Overman, Cashr., and Col. W. F. Martin, of Elizabeth City, N. C.

The Great Medical Discovery!
Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of thousands
Bear testimony to their wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

For Female Complaints, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. For cleansing the blood they are unsurpassed.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs not destroyed beyond the point of cure.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They invigorate the stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Copiness, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms which are the offsprings of Dyspepsia, are cured by these Bitters.

Cleanse the [illegible]

[illegible] Blood when you find the impurities bursting through the Skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.

FARMERS ATTENTION!

It is demonstrated that the land in East North Carolina can be much improved by subsoiling. Burnham and Pierce's celebrated Patent subsoil Plow is just what is needed. It is especially adapted for our soil. The subscriber is the sole owner of the Patent for Pasquotank county, and is prepared to furnish them on short notice. Call and examine for yourselves. For reference call on Geo. D. Pool, or C. W. Hollowell.

MEDICAL.

TO PHYSICIANS.

New York, May 5th, 1870

Allow me to call your attention to my

PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU.

The component parts are, BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo. Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of the ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection, it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœa, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflamation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation,

With a feeling of confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
H. T. HELMBOLD,
Chemist and Druggist,
of 16 Years' Experience.

(FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMISTS IN THE WORLD.)

NOVEMBER 4, 1854.

"I am acquainted with Mr. H. T. HELMBOLD; he occupied the Drug Store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise."

WILLIAM WEIGHTMAN,
Firm of Powers & Weightman,

Ninth and Brown streets, Philadelphia.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

Is the great specific for Universal Lassitude, Prostration, &c.

The constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of Medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or insanity ensues.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU.

In affections peculiar to Females, is unequalled by any other preparation, as in Chlorosis, or Retention, Painfulness, or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, and all complaints incident to the sex, or the decline or change of life.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU AND IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Will radically exterminate from the system diseases arising from habits of dissipation, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superceding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiva and Mercury, in all these diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

In all diseases of these organs, whether existing in male or female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in taste and odor, "immediate" in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from broken-down or delicate constitutions, procure the remedy at once.

The reader must be aware that, however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect the bodily health and mental powers.

All the above diseases require the aid of a Diuretic. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is the great Diuretic.

Sold by Druggists everywhere. PRICE—$1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

MEDICAL.

SICKNESS, PAIN AND DEATH.

Legitimately result as penalties for violations of natural laws, from which none escape.

The faded cheek, the pale and wan features, the dull eye, the clouded intellect, the deep heaving sigh, the feeble and emaciated frame, the dejected brow, the tottering gate, all indicate previous transgression of law. Knowing that "procrastination is the thief of time," all intelligent beings apply for some remedy as soon as circumstances permit; while those who do not act upon the principle that "delays are dangerous," generally linger, lose more time and pay more money.

Thousands of mothers and daughters, in all stations and conditions of life, are suffering, lingering and dying from the effects of some dreaded and dreadful

FEMALE COMPLAINT,

That claims its victims throughout the length and breadth of our land.

Many females suffer in some way at each monthly period; some girls are in great peril at the commencement of menstruation, while older ones dread its decline at the "turn of life." Sometimes the menstrual flow is too much, or too little, or may be attended with pain; may be irregular or entirely checked, or changed in appearance, attended with other distressing symptoms. Leucorrhœa, or the "Whites," frequently drains the system, or ulceration of the womb may create pain and cause rapid prostration.

Falling of the womb is an exceedingly common complaint, giving much trouble and distress, which, under ordinary treatment, is difficult to cure.

Hysterics, Green Sickness, Irritability of the Womb, and other serious and fatal complaints follow the female sex throughout life. Lives there a medical gentleman who has or can relieve the fair sex of the above troubles? Not many. Is there no combination remedial agents that will come to her rescue? We answer, Yes.

ENGLISH FEMALE BITTERS,

The only acknowledged Uterine Tonic and Female Regulator known, will cure all complaints above mentioned in an incredibly short time. The Bitters at once arouses, strengthens and restores the womb to its natural condition, removing obstructions, relieving pain and regulating the monthly period. Yonder stands a pale, feeble and languid girl, just bursting into womanhood; she is the pride of all, but hark! she silently steals a pickle, eats chalk, or a slate pencil; no appetite for food; she turns with a dull eye and seeks solitude; her eye no longer sparkles; her merry laugh is no longer heard ringing through the air; she mopes about with bloodless lips and gums, with headache, palpitation, constipation, swimming of the head, cold feet and hands, melancholy; she has a coated tongue, offensive breath, and a host of other evils too numerous to mention.

When neglected all these symptoms become aggravated, there is sick stomach, heartburn, a dark line settles under the eyes, the legs and ankles are swollen, the hair loses its gloss and falls off, there is brittleness and splitting of the finger-nails, swollen abdemen, extreme nervousness, fretfulness, pains and aches, dry cough, Hysterical Fits, rapid prostration, epilepsy and death! If you, or any of your friends, are thus afflicted, send at once for a Bottle of English Female Bitters and be cured. Its effects are magical in such complaints. Surely no mother will postpone and delay this duty until

DEATH IS AT THE DOOR.

In all these complaints the system evidently shows a want of red blood, and Mr. Churchill, in his work on Diseases of Females, says: "Bearing in mind that the blood is remarkably deficient in red corpuscles, and the known property of iron to correct this condition theory suggests it as the most to be relied on, the best of which is the Citrate." Citrate of Iron enters largely into the composition of English Female Bitters, combining the composition of ful vegetable tonics of rare virtues combined with powerful qualities.

Among the mountains of the piney woods of Mountains of Tennessee and the hard and fine Mississippi, is found a certain use by some Stillingia root, which has been in secret possession of some old midwives for many years, possessing magic powers in regulating and restoring all females suffering with any affection of the womb. This root we have obtained, gave it a fair test in our practice and it is now one of the principle ingredients in these Bitters. Other powerful uterine and general tonics also enter into its composition. We also add Leptandra or Black root, sufficient to act upon the liver and keep the bowels open.

BLOOMING YOUNG GIRLS,

Middle-aged matrons, those at the critical period, and the aged grandmother, are all cured by the use of our English Female Bitters, now prescribed and used by physicians all over the country.

If you are troubled with Falling of the Womb, attended with a sense of weight and bearing down pain in the back and side, and other attendant evils, English-Female Bitters will give entire relief.

Those at the "turn of life," mothers after confinement, and all others (male or female) who are convalescents from any protracted or debilitating complaint, who gain strength slowly, and whose digestion is slow and imperfect, will find these Bitters the very thing their system demands. It gives a powerful appetite, aids and assists digestion, arouses the liver, strengthens mentally and physically, and fills the whole system with pure crimson blood coursing through its channels.

COMMON GROG-SHOP BITTERS.

Empty Bitter Bottles, of various styles, can be found around almost every dwelling and cabin throughout the land: Their taste is pleasant, and are advertised to cure almost every disease, while the manufacturers know they possess no medicinal properties whatever. They are so many disguises for exceedingly common beverages which do not, nor cannot possibly cure any one.

Beware of these pleasant bitters in quart bottles, they contain a sting for your vitals, and he who buys them carries a "toper's" grog into his house. One man who knows nothing about medicine, says his big bottles of common stuff will cure chills and fever, rheumatism and consumption; another, whose bottle is very fancy, cures all impurities of the blood, makes old men young, casts out devils, restores sight to the blind, and numerous other miracles; while yet another, who presumes every man a drunkard, proposes to cure colic,
